TITLE OF OUR COVER ARTWORK:

MISSING AND MURDERED INDIGENOUS WOMEN

CREATED BY LAUREN POLCHIES,
GRAPHIC DESIGNER AND ILLUSTRATOR WHO LIVES IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

IN THE ARTIST'S WORDS:

This piece was created for the Native Women's Association of Canada for their action plan, Our Calls, Our Actions, regarding Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women, Girls, and Gender-Diverse People. The number four is featured throughout this piece to represent the four directions; there are four main women and four animals at the centre of this piece.

The four animals featured are the wolf, the eagle, the bear, and the buffalo. These are the animals used to symbolize the four directions. The four women featured are wearing red dresses, a symbol for MMIWG. The red hand print on the woman's face symbolizes the voices of the missing and murdered women being silenced.

The women are various ages to show that this is an issue that affects all generations. I included subtle nods to some of the various Indigenous people all over Canada to show that this is an issue that affects all Indigenous Peoples. The young girl in the front is wearing a Métis sash, the woman on the left is wearing traditional Inuit clothing, the woman in the back represents the Woodlands, and the grandmother represents the West Coast. The tipis on the shawl in the background are a nod to the Prairies. The woman in the background is meant to represent the ancestors, watching over our current generations. The background behind her is dark, representing the severity of the situation. Her shawl serves as a light backdrop to the main figures, which is meant to symbolize hope in this tragic situation.

THE INDIGENOUS WOMEN OF CANADA DEMAND AN END TO THE GENOCIDE THAT CONTINUES TO THREATEN THEIR LIVES

THE GENOCIDE MUST BE STOPPED. THAT IS THE BOTTOM LINE!

As we press forward to address the alarmingly high number of missing and murdered First Nations, Métis, and Inuit women in Canada, the Native Women's Association of Canada (NWAC) is using its voice to put an end to this genocide—the crimes against Indigenous women that continue to take lives and destroy many others from the loss, trauma, and grief.

From loss of culture and identity to residential and day schools to the Sixties Scoop to Sisters In Spirit to the launch of the National Inquiry, NWAC has represented and defended the human rights of Indigenous women in this country for 47 years.

Our grassroots members know the horror of being told that their mothers, daughters, sisters, and aunties have died at the hands of killers. They have seen women they love walk out the door, never to return. They have lived the agony of regular phone calls that suddenly stopped, only to be replaced by silence.

Families have told us that the time for talking about what could be done to end the violence has come and gone, and that now is the time for action.

We agree. It is time to wait no more. It is time to move away from state dependence to independence and self-determination. It is time.

THE GENOCIDE MUST BE STOPPED. THAT IS THE BOTTOM LINE!

Indigenous women in Canada today are seven times more likely than non-Indigenous women to be a victim of murder and three times more likely to be violently or sexually assaulted.

The Sisters In Spirit campaign (2005–2010) gathered qualitative and quantitative information to produce the first national database of missing and murdered Indigenous women in Canada. Our research identified the names of 582 Indigenous women and girls—of whom one-third had been confirmed as missing and two-thirds as murdered—which we knew, even then, represented just a fraction of the lives taken. Spurred by our findings, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police issued a report in 2014 that said 1,017 murders of Indigenous women had been reported to police across Canada between 1980 and 2012, and another 164 women had been reported missing and never been found.

At NWAC, we know those numbers did not adequately depict the magnitude of the genocide. We know that too many murders are wrongly attributed to suicide or accident. We know that, too often, the names of missing women are simply not listed in police files. And, we know that many missing persons are not reported to the police due to the ongoing breach of trust.

But the RCMP report still served as an official acknowledgement of what Indigenous Peoples have been saying for decades—that First Nations, Métis, and Inuit women are being killed in numbers grossly disproportionate to the size of their population.

In a groundswell, others joined us in our demands for the power of governments to be brought to bear on the issue. There were rising calls for a national inquiry to document the scope of the violence and to chart a path to ending it.

In the summer of 2016, those calls were heeded. The federal government announced that the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls would be held to determine the systemic issues why so many Indigenous women, girls, and gender-diverse people have gone missing or are murdered each year.

The Final Report of the National Inquiry offered 231 Calls for Justice in hopes that Canada would find ways to stop the killings, and for the healing to begin.

The inaction by the government, after the National Inquiry released its Final Report, was extremely disappointing. Indigenous women wanted cold cases to be reopened. They wanted to know what had happened to their missing and murdered loved ones. They wanted assurances that governments were going to meet their constitutionally mandated responsibility for ensuring their safety. They wanted perpetrators to be brought to justice.

It is time for those hopes to be realized.

THE FINAL REPORT OF THE NATIONAL INQUIRY OFFERED 231 CALLS FOR JUSTICE

in hopes that Canada would find ways to stop the killings, and for the healing to begin, and for human rights to be respected.

NATIONAL INQUIRY CHARTS A COURSE TO END THE VIOLENCE WITH 231 CALLS FOR JUSTICE

The National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls spent more than two and a half years investigating the systemic issues as to why so many First Nations, Inuit, and Métis women die violently.

Chief Commissioner Marion Buller and her fellow commissioners, Michèle Audette, Brian Eyolfson, and Qajaq Robinson, took the evidence of more than 2,380 family members of victims, survivors of violence, experts, Elders, and Knowledge Holders.

They held hearings across the country. They built their findings on the foundations of previous investigations such as the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples, which released its report in 1996, and the Truth and Reconciliation Commission, which published its 98 Calls to Action in 2015.

And, they listened to experts. NWAC submitted 61 recommendations to the National Inquiry, many of which are reflected in the Inquiry's final report.

In Reclaiming Power and Place: The Final Report of the National Inquiry Into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls, issued on June 3, 2019, the commissioners found: "This violence amounts to a race-based genocide of Indigenous Peoples, including First Nations, Inuit and Métis, which especially targets women, girls and 2SLGBTQIA people. This genocide has been empowered by colonial structures, evidenced notably by the Indian Act, the Sixties Scoop, residential and day schools, and breaches of human and Inuit, Métis and First Nations rights, leading directly to the current increased rates of violence, death, and suicide in Indigenous populations."

The commissioners said that, despite their best efforts, there was no way to determine the exact number of Indigenous women, girls, and gender-diverse people who had been murdered or who had gone missing over the decades because many of the crimes had likely gone unrecorded.

They also said an absolute paradigm shift is required to dismantle the colonialism within Canadian society and at all levels of government, and within public institutions that are responsible for perpetuating the violence.

THE INQUIRY'S FINAL REPORT SPANS MORE THAN 1,000 PAGES AND MAKES 231 CALLS FOR JUSTICE THAT, TOGETHER, COMPRISE A ROAD MAP TO END THE KILLINGS. THEY ARE NOT RECOMMENDATIONS. THEY ARE LEGAL IMPERATIVES.

These legal imperatives provide the federal government with the actions that must be taken to meet its Constitutional duty to protect the Indigenous women of Canada. This responsibility is also enshrined in international conventions and declarations such as the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.

Countries that have been found to have committed genocide have moral and legal obligations to end it and to make reparations.

While the 231 Calls for Justice are aimed at a wide range of actors—including provincial, territorial, and municipal governments, the media, health providers, the transportation and hospitality industries, police services, lawyers, educators, social workers, resource industries, correctional officers, and the Canadian public—it is the federal government that has the overarching fiduciary responsibility for ensuring that they are enacted.

THE FIRST CALL FOR JUSTICE DEMANDS THAT A NATIONAL ACTION PLAN BE CREATED BY GOVERNMENTS IN PARTNERSHIP WITH INDIGENOUS PEOPLES TO ADDRESS THE VIOLENCE.

IT IS TIME FOR THAT CALL TO BE MET.

THE NATIVE WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION OF CANADA'S ACTION PLAN TO END THE GENOCIDE AND START THE HEALING PROCESS FOR INDIGENOUS WOMEN

THE INDIGENOUS WOMEN OF CANADA CAN NO LONGER WAIT FOR GOVERNMENTS TO ACT. THEIR LIVES, AND THOSE OF THEIR MOTHERS, DAUGHTERS, SISTERS, AND AUNTIES, HAVE BEEN SIDELINED FOR TOO LONG.

OUR MEMBERS—THE GRASSROOT FIRST NATIONS, MÉTIS, AND INUIT WOMEN OF CANADA— HAVE TOLD US THEY WANT REAL ACTION.

AND THEY WANT IT NOW.

There can be no more aspirational documents. There can be no more playing around the edges of this genocide. The next steps must be concrete, actionable, costed, and quickly put into effect.

We know what those steps are because they have been spelled out for us by the families and provided to by the commissioners of the National Inquiry. They are the 231 Calls for Justice.

As the largest national Indigenous women's organization representing Indigenous women from coast to coast to coast, it is NWAC's responsibility to respond to the demands of our members. We cannot impose an action plan upon governments or other parties. But we can create a plan that we can carry out ourselves, with the support and partnerships of community.

That is what has been prescribed by the commissioners of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls.

The commissioners said a decolonizing approach must be taken to end this crisis and that, while governments and others have a role to play, it is the Indigenous women themselves who must guide the process through self-determination and self-governance. This means we need a fundamental change in the funding model from unstable short-term to stable, long term funding.

This can no longer be left in the hands of governments to manage and administer.

At NWAC, we have been serving Indigenous women in Canada for 47 years. We are uniquely positioned to understand their wants and needs. We have a responsibility to ensure those wants and needs are met and that human and Indigenous rights are respected.

We are asserting our jurisdiction over this process by developing and implementing this action plan.

For that reason, we held a national roundtable to obtain the advice of grassroots Indigenous women and gender-diverse people about how to proceed on the 231 Calls for Justice. At that roundtable, they laid out their priorities. We listened to them.

We also listened to the families of victims and to the survivors, to experts, to Elders, and to Indigenous communities to determine which of the 231 Calls for Justice are the most urgent.

A PLAN FOR ACTION

WE TOOK THAT COUNSEL AND FORMED IT INTO A PLAN WITH SHORT-, MEDIUM-, AND LONG-TERM ACTIONS THAT WILL MAKE A REAL DIFFERENCE IN THE LIVES OF INDIGENOUS WOMEN, GIRLS, AND GENDER-DIVERSE PEOPLE.

THE RESULT IS A LIST OF OVER 65 CONCRETE ACTIONS

that we can act upon quickly to improve the safety of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit women in Canada, and that will help them to begin the process of healing from decades of violence.

Our approach is holistic, it is decolonized, and it is trauma-informed.

We will take the actions that are needed to end the violence—the genocide—by upholding dignity and justice for Indigenous women, girls, and gender-diverse people in ways that are grounded in healing, culture, land, language, and community.

THIS IS OUR ACTION PLAN.

It is informed by the 231 Calls for Justice, which came from the voices of the families and survivors. It is also informed by our National Roundtable on Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women that was held in January 2020 with grassroots members to identify priority areas in response to the 231 Calls for Justice.

It has also been created with advice from Advisory Committees, NWAC's grassroots members and with the wisdom and advice of our board members.

This plan, which includes more than 65 concrete and costed actions, is meant to connect with the work that is being led by families and survivors and by First Nations, Métis, and Inuit governments. It is also intended to support, and be supported by, the efforts of other Indigenous women's groups, the governments of the provinces and territories, the Government of Canada, and other organizations.

There is a role for all to play as this country takes a stand to end the genocide that is taking lives and ripping families and communities apart.

At the heart of this plan are the Indigenous family members, survivors, community activists, and leaders who have, from the beginning, been the primary advocates for justice for missing and murdered women, girls, and gender-diverse people. We will continue to listen to them as we enact these measures.

This is a green document. It is the beginning. It will be revised and improved. All of the 231 Calls for Justice must eventually be acted upon.

ABOVE ALL, AS THE ACTION PLAN ACTIVITIES ARE RESOURCED, IMPLEMENTED, AND ENHANCED OVER THE YEARS AHEAD, INDIGENOUS WOMEN MUST REMAIN CENTRAL TO THE PATH FORWARD.

06

CUTTING OFF THE PATHWAYS

THAT MAINTAIN THE VIOLENCE AGAINST INDIGENOUS WOMEN, GIRLS, AND GENDER-DIVERSE PEOPLE

The commissioners of the National Inquiry found that there are four pathways in the structure of Canada’s colonial society through which the violence against Indigenous women, girls, and gender-diverse people is perpetuated and maintained. They are:

FOUR PATHWAYS

01 HISTORICAL, MULTIGENERATIONAL, AND INTERGENERATIONAL TRAUMA	03 MAINTAINING THE STATUS QUO AND INSTITUTIONAL LACK OF WILL
02 SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC MARGINALIZATION	04 IGNORING THE AGENCY AND EXPERTISE OF INDIGENOUS WOMEN, GIRLS, AND 2SLGBTQIA PEOPLE

THE ACTION PLAN DEVELOPED BY NWAC IS EXPLICITLY AIMED AT ENDING EACH PATHWAY TO VIOLENCE AND INJUSTICE. IT WAS DEVELOPED FOR INDIGENOUS WOMEN BY INDIGENOUS WOMEN.

ENDING THE VIOLENCE AND INJUSTICE WILL BE ACHIEVED THROUGH:

- our Resiliency Lodges, which will facilitate the path to healing and that have the power to heal the historical and intergenerational traumas
- our five toll-free Elder support telephone lines
- providing Indigenous women the tools they need to enter the labour force and become entrepreneurs and to lift themselves and their families out of poverty and economic dependence
- advocating for the Government of Canada to make the transformational change that is required and not continue with the ongoing colonial approach
- urging the Government of Canada to bring Indigenous women to decision-making tables to influence the decisions that impact their lives, rejecting the status quo that has kept the fight to end the violence mired in endless rounds of meaningless bureaucratic wrangling

OUR PLAN IS BASED ON THE ADVICE OF INDIGENOUS WOMEN ABOUT ACTIONS THAT MUST BE TAKEN.

12

THE COMMISSIONERS SAID IN THEIR REPORT THAT THE STEPS TO END AND REDRESS THE GENOCIDE MUST BE NO
LESS MONUMENTAL THAN THE COMBINATION OF SYSTEMS AND ACTIONS THAT HAVE WORKED TO MAINTAIN COLONIAL
VIOLENCE FOR GENERATIONS.

WE ARE READY TO TAKE THOSE MONUMENTAL STEPS.

07

THE SEVEN PRINCIPLES FOR CHANGE SPELLED OUT BY THE NATIONAL INQUIRY MUST BE FOLLOWED

The National Inquiry's final report sets out seven principles for change that must inform the implementation of the 231 Calls For Justice in order for them to be effective and meaningful.

Those principles are central to the action plan created by NWAC to remedy/redress the violence against Indigenous women, girls, and gender-diverse people. They are:

01

A FOCUS ON SUBSTANTIVE EQUALITY
AND HUMAN AND INDIGENOUS RIGHTS

02

A DECOLONIZING APPROACH

03

THE INCLUSION OF FAMILIES AND SURVIVORS

04

SELF-DETERMINED AND INDIGENOUS-
LED SOLUTIONS AND SERVICES

05

RECOGNITION OF DISTINCTIONS
(FIRST NATIONS, MÉTIS, AND INUIT)

06

CULTURAL SAFETY

07

A TRAUMA-INFORMED APPROACH

IT IS CLEAR THAT THE SOLUTIONS TO THIS GENOCIDE MUST BE DEvised AND IMPLEMENTED BY INDIGENOUS WOMEN.

WE, AT NWAC, ARE READY TO DO THAT WORK,
AND WE HAVE ALREADY STARTED.

CULTURE AND LANGUAGE

“GENERALLY, THE RIGHT TO CULTURE AND IDENTITY CAN BE DEFINED AS THE RIGHT TO ACCESS, PARTICIPATE IN, AND ENJOY ONE’S CULTURE. THIS INCLUDES THE RIGHT OF INDIVIDUALS AND COMMUNITIES TO KNOW, UNDERSTAND, VISIT, MAKE USE OF, MAINTAIN, EXCHANGE, AND DEVELOP CULTURAL HERITAGE AND CULTURAL EXPRESSIONS, AS WELL AS TO BENEFIT FROM THE CULTURAL HERITAGE AND CULTURAL EXPRESSIONS OF OTHERS. IT ALSO INCLUDES THE RIGHT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE IDENTIFICATION, INTERPRETATION, AND DEVELOPMENT OF CULTURAL HERITAGE, AS WELL AS IN THE DESIGN AND IMPLEMENTATION OF POLICIES AND PROGRAMS THAT KEEP THAT CULTURE AND IDENTITY SAFE.”

HEALTH AND WELLNESS

“WHEN RIGHTS TO CULTURE AND IDENTITY ARE IN JEOPARDY, THE RIGHT TO HEALTH IS ALSO UNDER THREAT. WE DEFINE “HEALTH” AS A HOLISTIC STATE OF WELL-BEING, WHICH INCLUDES MENTAL, EMOTIONAL, PHYSICAL, AND SPIRITUAL WELL-BEING, PARTICULARLY WITHIN INDIGENOUS WORLD VIEWS. IN THIS WAY, HEALTH IS NOT SIMPLY AN ABSENCE OF ILLNESS OR DISABILITY.

21

THE RIGHT TO HEALTH IS LINKED TO OTHER FUNDAMENTAL HUMAN RIGHTS, SUCH AS ACCESS TO CLEAN WATER AND ADEQUATE INFRASTRUCTURE IN COMMUNITIES. ON A MORE GENERAL LEVEL, HOWEVER, THE RIGHT TO HEALTH SPEAKS TO PREVENTING HARM TO OTHERS, TO PROTECTING THE HEALTH OF CHILDREN AND FAMILIES, AND TO FOSTERING MENTAL HEALTH. WE RECOGNIZE THAT AN ABSENCE OF SERVICES, OR A LACK OF CULTURALLY APPROPRIATE SERVICES IN COMMUNITIES, AS WELL AS OTHER FACTORS LINKED TO HEALTH, PLACE WOMEN, GIRLS, AND 2SLGBTQQIA PEOPLE IN VULNERABLE SITUATIONS WHERE THEY BECOME TARGETED FOR VIOLENCE.”

HUMAN SECURITY

"WE UNDERSTAND THE RIGHT TO SECURITY AS A PHYSICAL RIGHT, AS WELL AS A SOCIAL RIGHT. PHYSICALLY, THE RIGHT TO SECURITY INCLUDES THE RIGHT TO LIFE, LIBERTY, AND PERSONAL SAFETY. THIS INCLUDES CONTROL OVER ONE'S OWN PHYSICAL AND MENTAL HEALTH, AS WELL THE PROTECTION OF ONE'S OWN PSYCHOLOGICAL INTEGRITY. IN CANADA, THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS PROTECTS INDIVIDUALS FROM GRAVE PSYCHOLOGICAL HARM PERPETRATED BY THE STATE. ON AN INTERNATIONAL LEVEL, IN THE AREA OF SOCIAL SECURITY, THE RIGHT TO SECURITY MEANS THAT THE STATE MUST ENSURE PROTECTIVE SERVICES OR SOCIAL SERVICE ASSISTANCE AND GUARANTEE THE PROTECTION OF THE ENTIRE POPULATION THROUGH ESSENTIAL SERVICES SUCH AS HEALTH, HOUSING, AND ACCESS TO WATER, FOOD, EMPLOYMENT, LIVELIHOOD, AND EDUCATION. BECAUSE OF ITS REDISTRIBUTIVE NATURE, THE RIGHT TO SOCIAL SECURITY IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN COMMUNITY HEALTH AND HARMONY AND IN REDUCING POVERTY."
